FOR HELPING PROFESSIONALS TO LEARN TO BETTER SUPPORT TRANS, TWO-SPIRIT AND GENDER CREATIVE PEOPLE

Learning objectives:

- Learn about the ways that neurodivergence presents in gender minorities, and how to better support trans and Two-Spirit neurodivergent people
- Recognize how decolonizing and anti-racist practice can support breaking down the gender-binary
- Build confidence in themselves and their practice through better understanding of implicit bias, how to address it, and how to repair a relationship after making mistakes
- Build clinical skills and feel more prepared to respond to ethical dilemmas through the use of case studies and small group work collaboration
- Learn how better to support the mental health of trans people (including suicide prevention)
- See website for a complete list of learning objectives: BrettMason.ca
